

Corpus Christi

Every Sunday we gather at God's gracious invitation to be nourished in the Eucharist. Today in particular, we call to mind this memorial handed down to us through the ages. Indeed, we hear today of an even more ancient tradition of meal sharing in the first reading. But the meal that we share today is Christ's very Body and Blood, given to us on Calvary and made present every time we do what He commanded us to do at this altar. May our prayers today be one of thanksgiving for this great gift of the Eucharist.

Readings for next Sunday (11th Sunday/Ordinary Time)

2 Samuel 12:7-10, 13

The Lord forgives David's sin.

Galatians 2:16, 19-21

Christ lives in me.

Luke 7:36—8:3

Jesus forgives the woman's sins.

This first Sunday in the very long stretch of Ordinary Time that will bring us to the threshold of Advent roots us firmly in the Gospel of Saint Luke. Next Sunday we will listen to the story of a meal that Jesus shares in the home of a Pharisee. At that meal the Lord has something to teach this Pharisee and something to teach us about the nature of the Eucharist. May the scripture we hear next Sunday bring reconciliation and hope for each one of us and for our Church.
